Art and Architecture in Ancient Egypt

Instructor: Brian Alm, Member of the Institute for the Study of Ancient Cultures, The University of Chicago

Egyptian art and architecture can be "read" like a book — if you know what to look for. The art is full of hidden meanings entwined in cryptograms, and the symbolic architecture of temples and tombs is a grand statement of the ancient Egyptians' religion, mythology and world view. We will go back through 3,000 years of Egyptian history and "read like an Egyptian" to understand and appreciate what they were expressing about this most fascinating of all ancient cultures.

Positive Psychology

Instructor: Dr. William Hampes, Professor Emeritus, Black Hawk College

The class will explore Positive Psychology, the branch of psychology that studies the strengths and virtues that enable individuals to thrive and to live meaningful and satisfying lives. ### Can Creativity Save the World?

Instructors: Jay Swords and Brett Monnard, Black Hawk College

Businesses extol it, colleges claim to be incubators of it, and people everywhere are searching for it. But very few seem to know what it really is or how to develop it. This class will give you insight into what creativity is and is not, whether it can be learned and developed, how it can be applied in everyday situations as well as to some of the most critical problems facing us today. Join us as we describe what the "box" is and how to "think outside of it."

IN-PERSON CLASSES (continued)

You can find ways to use these digital tools and tips for online safety. You will also learn how to edit your photos and send them directly from your phone to a business, such as Walgreens or Walmart or an online service to be developed. We can look at using the apps on a phone or tablet. Bring your charger and digital device and we can help with the rest!

In-Person Class ID 1575

What Can Fiction Teach Us About Reality?

Instructor: Dr. Tamara Felden, Augustana College

The East German author Christa Wolf articulated a concept by which fiction, that which does not objectively exist and is told in a story, can nevertheless convey truth. Many of us love to read because of exactly that, to learn about the world around us, even if what we encounter is fictitious, and become wiser and perhaps more empathetic in the process. We will examine this concept by reading "Fahrenheit 451", a Ray Bradbury novel published in 1951, and inspect elements of the story in connection with our contemporary experience. Students are strongly encouraged to purchase (or check out from their local library) a copy of "Fahrenheit 451" by Ray Bradbury.

In-Person Class ID 1576

Rock Island County — Transformation to Settled Land

Instructor: Regena Schantz, Local Historian

Anticipating the removal of the Sauk and Mesquakie from their land between the Mississippi and Rock rivers, would-be settlers and investors quickly made claims to what would become Rock Island County. We will explore events between 1829 and 1941 that led to county development.

In-Person Class ID 1577

Exploring Common Ground: An Interfaith Adventure

Instructor: Dr. Lisa Killinger, Muslim Community of the Quad Cities

This course will offer a fun and spirited look (pun intended) at the common ground shared by the Muslim, Christian and Jewish faiths. The class will learn about common practices, traditions and even the linguistic overlay between faiths. This course will be a series of conversations featuring participants from the local Muslim, Jewish, Christian and Unitarian community. Buckle up! We are going on a faith adventure, including a "tour" of past and current Interfaith events here in the Quad Cities and efforts that underscore the common ground between faiths.

In-Person Class ID 1578

Instructor: Dr. Annette LeZotte, Art Historian, Black Hawk College

Half of the course will consist of an in-depth examination of the painting, its history, Vermeer's life and painting technique, and scholarly interpretations of the meaning of the image. The other half will be devoted to exploring contemporary commentaries or manipulations of Vermeer's painting in historical fiction, film and modern art. Students are strongly encouraged to purchase (or check out from their local library) a copy of Tracy Chevalier's novel "Girl with a Pearl Earring" as we will spend a good amount of time discussing the book and its film adaptation.

Mindfulness and Landscape Photography

Instructor: Trent Foltz, Trent Foltz Photography

Though mindfulness photography is not a true style, we can be mindful when we photograph. Mindfulness is about being present in the moment. So, in a way, landscape photography is all about mindfulness. To get a photograph that truly represents a place, you have to be completely present in the moment you take the picture, not distracted by anything. You need to be giving the location your full attention, taking only a few clicks of the subject. In this class we will discuss mindfulness, making strong images and being able to talk about them. Understanding your camera’s controls and what they do is important. Also, a basic understanding of post processing.

In-Person Class ID 1585

Introduction to Quilling

Instructor: Ranjani Gopikrishna, Local Artisan

Quilling – also known as paper filigree or paper scrolling – technique dates back centuries. The origin of this technique first used gold and silver rolled into coils to decorate vases and pieces of jewelry. With the emergence of paper, it took a different dimension in the 14th century. This nearly forgotten art form has gained more popularity in recent years. This is an easy-to-learn art form compared to other crafts. With the available tools and resources, anyone can learn the basic quilling techniques and create mind-blowing art forms. Join us and create art using strips of paper. A $25 materials fee for the kit for all the four sessions is payable to the instructor the first day of class.

In-Person Class ID 1586

The Taos Six

Instructor: Gloria Burlingame, Local Artisan

It’s 1898 and two artists are traveling to Mexico. They never make it – their wagon breaks a wheel in the Taos, NM, area and their lives are forever changed. Follow the creative paths of the six artists who founded the Taos Society of Artists and take your own artistic journey, creating studies of their works in a variety of art materials. A $5 materials fee is payable to the instructor the first day of class.

In-Person Class ID 1718

VIRTUAL CLASSES

Virtual Class ID 1587

“To read Dante is to educate the eye (I)...” John Ciardi: The Divine Comedy and Our Journey Towards Wholeness

Instructor: Daniel Christian, Member of the Dante Society of America

This course will introduce students to Dante’s epic story, “The Divine Comedy,” and show how it can serve readers as a surprisingly powerful guide as we aim our sights towards an honest- to-goodness “examined life.” We will all join Dante/pilgrim as he journeys from the “dark wood” of distress and confusion into an enlightened state of self-knowledge, one grounded in appreciating that WE truly are all in this one life together. Essentially, an “educated eye” (I) (John Ciardi) is one that embraces the urgency of “liv[ing] the questions now” (Rilke) with the hope of honoring Dante’s focus on “nostra vita” (this life of ours), and during our February time together, we will grapple with many aspects of this process.

Virtual Class ID 1588

A Comparison of the Abrahamic Religions

Instructor: Dr. Art Pitz, Presenter and Professor Emeritus, Black Hawk College

Participants will be asked to take a non-graded test to begin with to see what you know and then we’ll discuss the main features of each religion as they compare with the others. Be open and ready for some surprises. Your instructor has frequently found over the years that what some believe to be true about one or more of these faiths is simply not true. A good example is that many Christians believe the Bible is the word of God. But, which Bible? Protestant (multiple English translations), Catholic Bible, Jewish Bible, Anglican Bible, Greek Orthodox Bible, Ethiopian Bible? Be aware that the Quran is written in classical Arabic so translations into English may not capture the original meaning well in some cases.

Resurrecting Forest Grove

Presenter: Kelly and Tammy Rundle, Documentarians and Filmmakers of Fourth Wall Films

In 2012, a small group of preservationists stood before the hollowed-out shell of the unique and historic 1873 Forest Grove School No. 5. In the shadow of the gray, windowless, sagging structure they decided it could, and should, be saved.

"Resurrecting Forest Grove", a new documentary by Emmy award-winning filmmakers Kelly & Tammy Rundle of Fourth Wall Films, cinematically tells the dramatic true story behind the seemingly impossible task of restoring a vintage one-room school to its 1920s appearance. Footage and interviews gathered over a seven-year period depict the problems they faced and the solutions they employed as they attempted to bring this rural icon back to life. The surprises and successes of this challenging restoration project are intercut with a vivid historical portrait of the 'Roaring 20s' in rural America.

German Roots in the US

Presenter: Brian Allen, Executive Director, German American Heritage Center

Beginning in the mid-1800s, scores of German immigrants crossed the Atlantic and then traveled up the Mississippi to settle on the West side of the river. This brought many Germans to the Quad Cities. Once they began to settle in the area, they made their indelible mark on architecture, business and society as a whole. Tracing German Roots in the Quad Cities follows their journey to the area, the impact they made once there and the ways in which those German roots forever transformed the place we call home.

He saw the book as a way to preserve some family history for his grandkids and great-nieces and great-nephews and regale them with stories of rural life in the 1950's and 1960's. He will discuss the importance of family history and how you can preserve your own for future generations.
